

Talk on “Personal Finance for Financial Security”: A Report

The Department of Economics, Lady Keane College organized a talk on the topic ‘Personal Finance for Financial Security’ on the 13th of May 2023 at 11 am in the Seminar Hall of the College. The program was organized for Economics Honors students and forty-one students participated in the program. The Resource person for the program was Mr. Danny. L. Wankhar, Retd, I.A.S, former Director Planning NEC.

The resource person spoke extensively about the different areas of personal finance- income, savings, insurance, tax planning, investment and others. He stressed upon the importance of managing personal finances and enlighten the students about the different and smart ways to manage it. He talked at length about both the traditional and the new ways of managing personal finances. He also made students aware about the risks associated with investments and also how to manage such risks. The students took keen interest in the program and interacted with the resources to get all their doubts cleared.

The program ended with a vote of thanks.
